BASECAMP QUEST AUTOMATIC GMT

TALES OF HIGH ADVENTURE

The popular UNDONE Basecamp with GMT function enhances its exciting appeal in a daring steel and bronze model that harks back to the age of thrilling romance and exploration.

EVERY CORNER OF THE GLOBE

The iconic UNDONE Basecamp got a cool upgrade in 2023 and was turbo charged with a GMT function courtesy of the ultra-capable TMI NH34 movement. A total must-have for travelers and people who need to keep track of the time at a different part of the globe, the GMT gave the Basecamp the ability to display, not just a second, but also a third time zone.

UNDONE Basecamp could do this courtesy of an orange colored, arrow-tipped 24-hour GMT hand right on the dial to display a second timezone. But if you're feeling the need for a third timezone, well look no further than the 24-hour bi-directionally rotating bezel. Just give it a spin clockwise or counter clockwise until the UTC-based time zone you need is aligned with the 12 o'clock marker, and viola the number corresponding to the orange GMT hand is your third timezone.

This made the already capable Basecamp an indispensable piece of equipment for people on the go. Not only was it already the must-have tool watch that could be worn everyday, now it could also be worn anywhere.

AGED TO PERFECTION

This year, the new UNDONE Basecamp Quest rocks a gracefully aging 40mm bronze case, which has the unique ability to develop a distinctive color that is unique to the wearer while guaranteeing water-resistance up to 10 ATM (approximately 100 meters). An enduring, high resistant metal that practically lasts forever especially when compared to steel, bronze has been the material of choice for nautical equipment due to its resistance to seawater. Once the top layer of the material oxidizes, bronze is essentially immune to environmental factors making it ideal for dive watches.

And when combined with the material's unique ability to narrate the stories embedded within its evolving patina, this latest member of the Basecamp collection becomes a major player in sustainable manufacturing by being extremely environmentally friendly because the longer something lasts the longer it takes before it needs to be replaced.

AN AFFAIR TO REMEMBER

Among the many other cannot-miss-out features of the exceptional UNDONE Basecamp Quest is a black 24-hour bi-directionally rotating metal bezel with circular graining and rose gold markers that match the color of the bronze case. This is complemented by a textured fumé gradient dial colored in a mesmerizing blue that mirrors the vast skies and deep seas explored throughout time. It features a printed railroad minute track in white; applied rose gold hour markers; a “lollipop” seconds hand with counter weight; a GMT hand with orange-colored arrow pointer; a cathedral hour hand; and a sword-shaped minute hand. All indications including the markers on the bezel are enhanced with white luminous material ensuring the Basecamp Quest remains perfectly readable even in the dark.
